

TWO OF NEGROES
WHO KILLED BUSH
ARE IN CUSTODY*Sheriff Schoenholz Returning To Dixon With Lucas and Johnson*TAKEN AT HANNIBAL*Official Personally Followed Clue and Got Two Alleged Murderers

Raymond E. Johnson and Al Lucas, two of the three negroes who are wanted for the murder of George Bush at Nelson on Friday evening, Dec. 6, are nearing Dixon in the custody of Sheriff Schoenholz. The officer will arrive with his two prisoners at 6:20 o'clock this evening on the Illinois Central passenger train from the south.

News of the apprehension of two of the alleged murderers was received by Deputy Sheriff R. R. Phillips this morning in the following telegram from his chief, sent from Hannibal, Mo., at 11 o'clock last evening:

"Johnson and Lucas in jail. Home 6:20 tomorrow night."

Followed a Clue.
Last week the sheriff got a tip that the fugitives might have fled to Hannibal, and a quiet watch was kept. The suspicion was verified when letters were received by several negro residents of the community from that city. Rather than take chances on the sought-for men being warned, the sheriff quietly slipped out of town, went to Hannibal and conducted a personal search, the success of which is indicated by the telegram received this morning.

One Still at Large.
Hampton (Curley) Wilson, the other member of the trio of negroes who killed Bush, is still at large, and a reward of $200, offered by the Supervisors, still hangs over his head. In Johnson, however, the officers believe they have the ring-leader of the gang, and the apprehension of the third man is considered very probable.

TWENTY LETTERS FOR AERIAL MAIL

Twenty pieces of first-class mail were sent from Dixon last evening for transportation in the first airplane mail from this city. The mail left Chicago early this morning for Cleveland and New York; and it is announced that daily service will be continued until further notice. Several of the letters from the Dixon office were posted two days ago, and thereby gained nothing in speed. One letter was also mailed here carrying postage at six cents an ounce, the rate for aerial mail service, addressed to Beloit, Wis. Since there is no aerial mail service from Chicago to Beloit the letter was sent in the usual manner.

DIXON REALTY CO.
TO MOVE OFFICES

George B. Stitzel, proprietor of the Dixon Realty Co., is preparing to move from his present office room in the Schuler building, First street and Galena ave., the first of the coming week. He has not fully determined on his new location, but expects it will be in rooms on the second floor of the Union block.

FORMER DIXON WOMAN IS DEAD

Mrs. Webster Poole received a telegram this morning from Dr. D. E. Waterbury of Chicago, announcing the death of his only daughter, Ethel Waterbury, formerly of Dixon. She passed away last evening after an illness with pneumonia. Burial will take place at Polo Friday. Miss Waterbury was a graduate nurse.

CHRISTMAS MAIL LIGHT AT DIXON

Employees at the Dixon postoffice are at a loss to understand the lack of extra Christmas mail, both incoming and outgoing. The mails thus far have been no heavier than is ordinary, and there is a feeling among the postal clerks that the people are disregarding the advice of the government to mail Christmas parcels early and are awaiting the final minute to send them.

YEAR OR TWO TO BECOME NORMAL

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Annapolis, Md., Dec. 18.—At least a year, possibly two, will be required before the nation can return to normal peace conditions and "we will be fortunate if conditions abroad make demobilization possible at so early a date," said Secretary Daniels today at the state governors' conference.

The navy, said the secretary, must be increased and strengthened to enable us to contribute as many units as any other nation to the international police force, but he added: "I look to see the peace conference put an end to competitive big navy building."

The returning soldiers, said the secretary, will come back to "the greatest peace inspiration of fellowship and high resolve that no privileged class shall monopolize the fruits of their valor. The men will have an equal resolve that no red flag of anarchy shall float to the breeze in fair America."

NEGRO HERO IS FULL OF HOLES

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Dec. 18.—The first department of negroes from the war zone set foot on home soil today when the steamer Celtic reached her pier. On board there were 158 officers and 2,122 enlisted men. Among the other units were several from the 105th (the old 7th of New York).

A living testimony to the murderous machine gun fire the American troops faced in their attacks on the German lines was Sergeant Clark of this regiment, who came ashore with his left arm paralyzed and 12 wounds inflicted in one fight at Cambrai. He had three bullets through his jaw, two entered his neck, two penetrated his chest, four struck his left side and one lodged in the calf of his leg. But before he was riddled he killed three Germans. To the many stories of American soldiers in remarkable escapes from German prison camps was added an unprecedented one today when comrades of Lt. White, naval aviator of Cleveland, returning on the Celtic, said he had flown from Germany to the American lines in a stolen German plane.

Fifteen states have approved the amendment and, the board declares, 30 others, including Illinois, the legislatures of which meet next month, will vote in favor of the proposed nation-wide prohibition.

SAYS THE JAPS WANT ISLANDS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 18.—Official Japan is silent as to what Japan will ask at the peace conference, but Marquis Okuma, the venerable ex-prime minister, has come out in a statement as to what Japan's peace terms should be. He said that Japan should hold islands like Marshalls, Caroline and others, now occupied by the Japanese navy, as it is dangerous to return them to Germany and as there is no reason to let the other powers occupy them.

THE TAX RATE IS REDUCED TODAY

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., Dec. 18.—A rate of 75 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation was fixed by the state taxing commission here today. The rate is a reduction of 15 cents over the present rate of 90 cents and represents a saving to the state tax payers of approximately $4,000,000.

He had been taken to Rochester, Minn., for attention from the famous surgeons there, but his advanced age made the doctors' efforts futile.

BEATTY PRAISES
YANK SAILORS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Dec. 18.—The American battleship squadron attached to the British grand fleet, displayed a spirit of true comradeship throughout the period of service, declared Admiral Beatty, commander in chief of the Grand Fleet, in a formal address on board the U. S. S. New York, on Dec. 1, the day the American squadron was detached from the grand fleet.

Admiral Beatty remarked that he always had misgivings that the Germans would never come out for a finish fight and these misgivings were strengthened by the coming of the American squadron which "apparently was the straw that broke the camel's back."

President Wilson Has Inter-

Marshal Foch

ALLIES IN HUN CAPITAL

Paper Says Germans Want
Occupation—Planned A
Frightful Air Raid

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, Dec. 18.—President Wilson talked half an hour with Marshal Foch last night. The subjects under discussion mainly referred to the armistice between the allies and Germany. President Wilson was most favorably impressed with the result of the first extended conversation he has had with the marshal, according to the Echo de Paris.

The newspaper states that most probably the treaty of peace will be signed at Versailles some time about the beginning of June and that Marshal Foch will lead the allied armies under the arch of triumph in Paris within 15 days afterwards.

During his talk with Marshal Foch the president indicated the ground he desired to cover in a trip to the front.

Planned Gigantic Raid

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, Dec. 18 (Havas).—Information of a plan which it says the Germans had for a terrific air raid on Paris, is printed by the Gligaro. The purpose was to use 35 airplanes which were to drop 5,000 incendiary bombs containing chemicals which would cause fires of such a nature that pouring water on them would serve but to feed the flames. A second squadron of 35 planes was to follow with ordinary bombs to be dropped on the fire fighters and the crowds revealed by light from burning buildings.

MARION WOMAN'S RITES TOMORROW

The funeral of Mrs. Patrick McCaffrey, who passed away at her home in Marion township Monday evening, will be held at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Mary's church, Walton, with burial at Rockyford cemetery, Amboy.

Elizabeth McNelly McCaffrey was born in Dixon on July 4, 1867, and she spent her childhood in this vicinity. On Oct. 28, 1890, she was united in marriage to Patrick H. McCaffrey of Marion, and from that time until her death she made her home in that township where she was loved and respected by all who knew her.

To the union were born nine children: Mrs. Joseph Haley of Walton; Eugene P., Joseph F., Paul J., George, Frank, Marie, Bernard and Janette, all at home. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. William Rock of South Dixon and four brothers: James of Tracey, Minn.; Thomas, Henry and Aleck of California. The family has the sincere sympathy of a host of friends, who mourn the loss of a kind and devoted wife, mother and friend.

EXPECT BIG CROWD.

Reports from Sterling are to the effect that a large number of high school pupils will accompany their basketball team to Dixon Friday evening for the game with the Dixon team and the Frolics' dance afterwards.

KNOX DECLARES LEAGUE SHOULD BE POSTPONED

Former Secretary of State
Urges Delay In Forming League

NOT AT CONFERENCE

Says There Is Wide Diversity of Opinion On League
Of the Nations

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Dec. 18.—Declaring that the widest diversity of opinion exists regarding the formation of a league of nations and on the definition of the freedom of the seas, Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, former secretary of state, in an address to the senate today, urged postponement of these questions until after the peace conference.

Just before Senator Knox spoke the foreign relations committee had discussed and decided to delay until Saturday his resolution which would record the senate in favor of such postponement and also call for a withdrawal of American military and naval forces from Europe and abrogation of the president's extraordinary war powers.

Chairman Hitchcock said that there was a division of opinion in the committee on the resolution and that it was not confined to party lines. He would not predict what action finally might be taken.

The function of the peace conference, Sen. Knox said, was to settle the issues with the enemy. A revision of the marine laws and a league of nations "are issues between the allies themselves and neutrals and should not be complicated with the simple demands of the peace treaty."

Instead of a league of nations Senator Knox suggested a "definite entente, provided it be small, bringing only limited and appropriate obligation." The league of nations, he said, should await exhaustive consideration.

MR. MANDEL PRAISES KENYON ROBERTS

CHAPTER CXXIII.

When Mr. Mandel came he brought with him flowers for both Ruth and her aunt. His thoughtfulness always appealed to Ruth. And that night, as always, it soothed her wounded feelings to a degree.

Ruth really felt chagrined as well as hurt that Brian had—as she thought—consoled himself with Mollie King when she had been obliged to be away on business; and now she was doubly hurt and chagrined that she was with him overseas. She knew that she was Mollie's superior in brain and appearance. Yet Brian seemed to prefer Mollie, her company. She had yet to learn that it is the woman, not what she is, that attracts most men.

So smarting under her feeling of neglect, Mandel's delicate attentions were not acceptable; and helped her to put aside the feeling inspired by Brian's letter—the feeling of chagrin that he could find enjoyment with someone she knew to be her inferior in many ways. Not that Ruth belittled Mollie's attractions, even to herself. That was never her way. But it seemed to show weakness on Brian's part to care for such attractions as Mollie possessed.

Ruth knew that she (Mollie) was unpractical. That she called herself "A Bohemian" could not disguise the fact that she was content to live in a manner that no well-brought-up girl could endure. How Brian could find entertainment with such people, amid their more than "unattractive" surroundings, when he had an artistic home to enjoy, was beyond Ruth's understanding.

"She's doing something now—nursing soldiers. That would appeal to him," she had said aloud while she dressed herself for the evening. She had acted upon her aunt's suggestion and worn a semi-evening dress of blue, a most becoming affair, in which she looked very girlish and lovely. Mrs. Clayborne had not failed to notice that Mandel could scarcely take his eyes from Ruth and that once or twice when Mrs. Roberts had spoken, he had failed to hear.

They had a delightful game, then, about eleven o'clock. Rachel called them into the dining room, where she had prepared a dainty supper, by Mrs. Clayborne's orders. They grew quite gay, especially after Mr. Roberts came in and joined them. He had come home, found his wife gone, and called to see if she were with them, and Ruth had insisted that he have supper with them.

He and Mandel got on famously. They talked business a little, apologizing to the ladies; they discussed the war, and other things, as men will who see in each other something congenial.

It was long after midnight when the little party broke up. And Ruth willingly acknowledged that she had enjoyed herself immensely.

"We must have company often," Mrs. Clayborne had said. "We will grow stale and uninteresting here by ourselves if we don't." To which Ruth had agreed.

The next morning after again telling her how he had enjoyed her party, Mandel said to Ruth:

"I liked that man, Roberts, so much. He is a clever, ambitious sort of a chap. He'll make good some day or I'll miss my guess."

"He is a very hard worker," Ruth returned, thinking of the difference between Kenyon Roberts and Brian. Both in the same profession, one so anxious to succeed—the other so careless of his future.

"A man has to be now-a-days, if he is to amount to anything," Mandel returned. He had no faintest idea that he was hurting Ruth, or that his praise of her guest of the night before was painful on account of her feeling that Brian had not accomplished what he might, simply because he lacked application.

Mandel wondered at Ruth's lack of interest in what he said about Roberts, as she had seemed so friendly the night before. He would have liked to talk longer with her—really what he had already said had been in part designed to give him an excuse to stay near her as long as possible.

She was to go out of town for a couple of days, and they had been discussing the details. She was glad to go—for almost the first time. Glad, for the change in her routine work, and of something to do which would occupy her whole attention, so giving her no time to think of Brian and—Mollie King.

On her way home that night, she met Mrs. Curtiss.

"I hear that Mollie King has gone overseas as a nurse. I suppose that Brian sees her?" she asked Ruth.

"Yes. He wrote me that he saw her often," Ruth returned.

Perhaps Mollie had written Mrs. Curtiss. She would not pretend she knew nothing of her renewed intimacy with Brian.

(Tomorrow—Mrs. Curtiss Expounds Her Views.)

VAILE AND O'MALLEY

How great is the knowledge of German university professors of American politics! Eight hundred and forty-six of these wise men are out in a demand that a German national assembly shall be convened before March 4, as, after that, the American congress will be dominated by "republican imperialists," who will oppose Mr. Wilson's fourteen points. These fourteen points, it is held, hold the only hope of a "half way tolerable peace for Germany." Perhaps these erudite professors may be excused in the ground that they read democratic campaign material when after the Spanish war the democrats were calling the republicans "imperialists" because the McKinley administration had bought the Philippine islands and was proposing to hold on to them.

What has bolshevism done to Petrograd? A population of three millions reduced to half a million. And the half million starving by the thousands. Hundreds are being buried between 6 and 9 o'clock each morning!

BOYS KNOW WHAT MOTHER WANTS

Father Should Know What She Needs

IF Father spent as many hours at Mother's side as children do, they would quickly recognize the cause of her mind and body weariness. Children at play often hear the wish for a Hoosier and it's many time and labor-saving features. We therefore say to Fathers; "Heed the Hoosier Christmas suggestion."

But remember that there is but one Hoosier. It is the worthy kitchen helper for your home. It saves health and strength and miles of steps. It places 400 articles within arm's reach. Women sit comfortably while at work. They reach instead of walk.

Every wanted convenience is found in the Hoosier—scientifically arranged and of practical construction.

Make this a Hoosier Christmas. Come now and select one of several models. If another style would suit "her" better, we'll gladly exchange it later. But come now before our limited allotment is gone.

And remember that you can make but a small deposit and small amounts pay the balance.

SENATORS DEMAND GERMANY PAY U. S. EXPENSES IN WAR

Simmons, of South Carolina, Makes Speech on U. S. War Bill

PLEASES REPUBLICANS

Democrats Indicate They Will Aid G. O. P. Indemnity Plan

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—Germany should be compelled to pay, so far as possible, the cost of the war to the United States, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the finance committee, declared on the floor of the senate today.

In the opinion of the senator the American bill of costs presented to Germany should include not only reparation for the killing of non-combatants and destruction of ships but the expense to the United States of the conduct of the war, reimbursement for which, if only in part, would go far toward lightening the future burden of taxation borne by the American people.

Salvage to Lighten Taxes. While Senator Penrose, in an address on the revenue bill, was discussing estimating expenditures for 1919 and 1920, Senator Simmons interrupted to suggest that while the government, among other things, would have heavy damages to pay for war contracts, still there would be a considerable salvage on work already done that would bring in an appreciable return.

Besides that, Senator Simmons said, there was to be reckoned $10,000,000 of money advanced to the allies, which would make "the best possible security and be an asset to this government." Those bonds are marketable, Senator Simmons said, and could be utilized toward relieving the people of taxation.

People Demand Damages. "More than that, I want to say that I don't believe the people of this country will consent to the central powers escaping without properly reimbursing this country for the great losses that have been inflicted upon it by the methods they have pursued in this war," Senator Simmons went on.

"I do not know if the central powers will be able to meet the demands that will be made upon them by the allies and the United States, but these demands certainly ought to be based upon the capacity of the central powers to pay, and that ought to be our only limitation.

"The United States ought to demand the same indemnity for its losses in proportion to the demands of its allies, with the possible exception of France and Belgium. This indemnity would help meet the tax demands here, and I believe the American people expect it."

U. S. Submarine Bill Ready. President Wilson never has indicated whether he would countenance a demand for indemnification for the cost of the war or any part thereof. At his direction, however, the state department has compiled the property loss due to the submarine warfare with a view to demanding reparation. Secretary to the Navy Daniels recently said America would exact no indemnities from Germany.

Senator Simmons' remarks were accepted by the Republicans as evidence that they will receive Democratic support in contending for reimbursement by Germany of a part at least of the American war cost.

Penrose Discusses Tax Bill. "It is a long journey from being 'too proud to fight' through the transition period of 'peace without victory' to surrender and armistice," Senator Penrose said. He added that despite many defects which will have to be corrected by remedial legislation the revenue bill seems to be the best that can be had at the present time, and it is unquestionably better than the existing law.

Opposing the inclusion of the 1920 tax program in the bill, Senator Penrose said:

"No one knows with the least approximation to accuracy what the revenue requirements of the government will be for 1920. To what extent taxes can be reduced in the future cannot now be told.

"The only argument advanced in favor of this legislation for the future is that the taxpayer should receive certain assurances as to his situation for the following year, but it is impossible to give him any positive assurance when future conditions are unknown.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL. Mrs. M. McDonald and son, Lawrence, of St. Louis, arrived in Dixon last evening, called by the death of the former's sister, Mrs. Michael Sullivan, of Oxfordville, Wis., whose funeral will be held here tomorrow. A brother, Hugh Duffy, is on his way from Jerome, Ida. Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy of Rock Island, brother and sister-in-law of the deceased, and John McManus, a cousin, is here from Chicago.

DIXON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.
(By Robert Shaw.)

Sterling Game:

This coming Friday night at the South Side high school gymnasium, the fast Sterling basketball team will meet the Dixon team. The two teams are the greatest of rivals and always have put up a real game. This year the game should be the closest in years. Of course, both Dixon and Sterling are banking on winning. A great many alumni will be home to witness the yearly struggle.

The basketball suits have not yet arrived but it is hoped they will be here for the Sterling game.

Santa Claus Letters.

Dear Santa Claus:

I am a thin boy and weak, so don't bring too much to surprise me for I have a weak heart, but I would like a red wagon, a tomahawk, an Indian suit, a whistle, a mud scow, a pair of pajamas (not a tent), some licorice, a Nutt gem, a shoe lace and a roll of wire. I close, Santa, hoping you don't break your neck.

Your boy,
Willard Countryman.

P. S.—Please send Blanch a box of candy so I won't have to.

Dear Old Man:

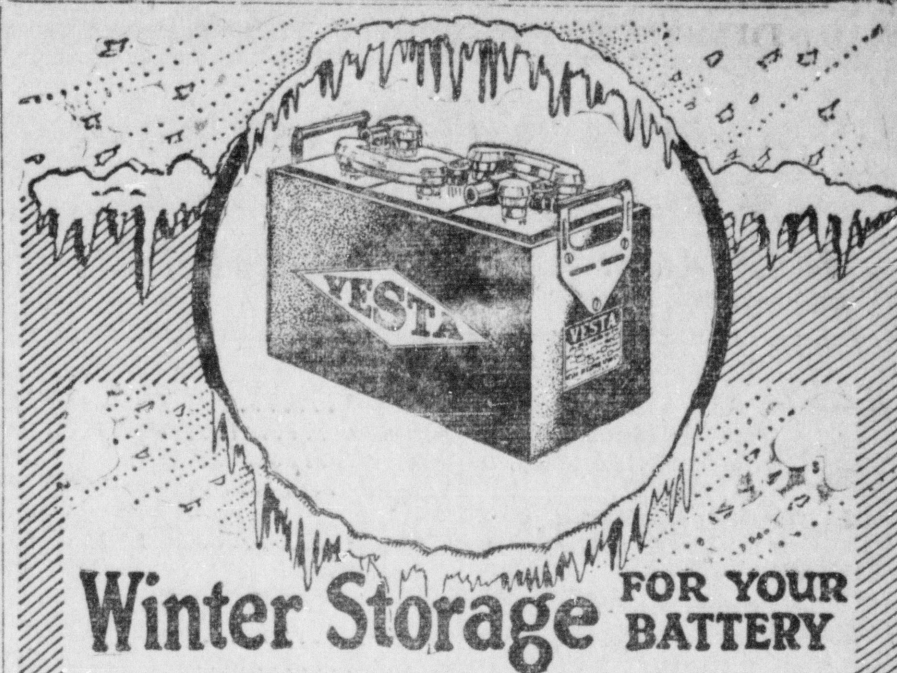

My name is Slim Rowland and I just got out of the insane asylum, so pity me. I want a stone quarry, a corn field, a three-quarters bed to sleep in, a ticket to Pekin, a pair of blood hounds, a depth bomb and a fine comb. I am the same as ever, The Kid, Harold R.

P. S.—Give my brother Charlie the "flu" so I can have the car Christmas night.

Dear Santa:

Hello, old kid, my name is Gerald Barry. The guys all call me "the great Barr," so you see I ought to get something swell. Well, I'll be brief and let you know a couple of things I want. I want a modern sea-going airplane, but you've got to send a driver with it or I won't take it. And give a few five dollar gold pieces; never mind if you haven't any more than five of them. Give me a block and tackle, so I can get my feet in and out of bed. Also bring me a false face. I might want to go to a party some time. I would like a piece of cue chalk, a crank to my limousine, and you might tie a horse to the back porch so that I might take a ride after breakfast. I might accept a pair of spats, a nut pick, a coffee grinder and Oh! Santa, bring me a box of strawberries and I'll jump with joy. Ta! Ta!

Lumberfoot.

The Vesta Square Deal Plan

We open your battery for your full inspection and advise you of its exact condition.

If it is in good condition we will put it in "dry storage". The storage is FREE and you will be charged only for the new set of wooden separators that will be necessary.

If other repair is necessary, and you authorize it, the work will be done when the battery is assembled in the Spring, at our usual reasonable charges. All charges are payable only when your battery is returned to you. Your battery will be ready when you want it.

If your battery is beyond repair we will give you Letter of Credit covering our exchange allowance for it. This is good at any time to apply against the purchase of a new Vesta Double Life Battery.

What Is Meant by Dry Storage

A storage battery is an electro chemical combination. Storing the battery over the winter with the acid in it means that the chemical action taking place is deteriorating your battery without doing the equivalent in work for you.

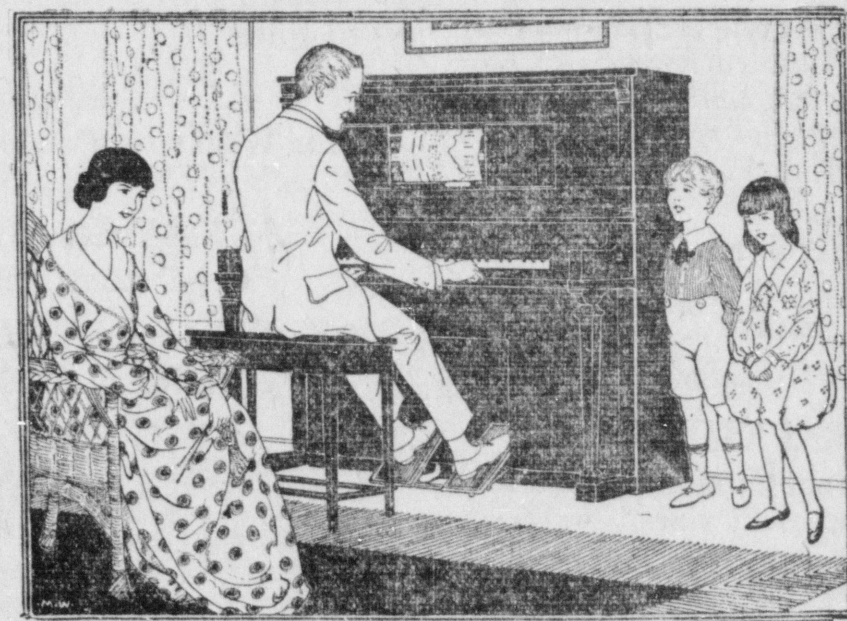

In Dry Storage the plates are taken out of the acid. The chemical action being suspended, the useful life of the battery is lengthened for you.

To do this the battery must be completely taken down. If you wish us to simply store your battery without taking it down, we will do so, keeping it charged once a month as it requires. For this you are to pay only for each charge at our usual rates.

It is apparent that charging a battery and allowing it to discharge itself without doing work and at the same time naturally ageing itself, is not ECONOMY.

Who Is Who In Dixon

(By Claude S. Moss, App. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Get On Him.

Ray Schrock is a truthful egg man. To mention I had almost forgotten, I said: "Well, Ray, how is business?" And he replied: "Rotten."

Get On Him.

Lee Mathias says that figures never lie; Might just as well have added Figures that are padded.

We found A. H. Frazz, the garage man, located on Galena ave., a good natured person, yesterday with a large magnifying glass trying to make a dime he had look like a dollar.

In another section of today's issue will be found the first run of the "Who Is Who" feature.

George Howell, "one of the boys," went to see the girls by the new time and went home by the old time. They all call him "Honeysuckle," because he hangs over the front fence.

The cracks in the bridge across the river on Galena street, have all been stopped up as C. C. Hintz, the reliable photographer is expected to cross soon. He is so thin that they don't want him to go through them.

People in speaking of Dixon as a city always apply "she." C. H. Falstrom, of the Dixon Floral Co., who always has flowers for all occasions, tells us the reason is because every city has outskirts.

W. F. Strong, who carries in stock the better class of pianos, told us, "You should not go in bathing after a hearty meal." We asked him why not? "He replied, "You will not find it there."

Don't for a moment think my friend Joseph Staples, the funeral director, is hot-headed just because he had a stove in his hat yesterday. Far be it from such.

It is reported that J. E. Young, the hustling owner of the Saratoga Cafe, took a prize at a beauty show. He did, but it was when the judges were not looking.

Matchless.

An empty match box H. A. Ahrens did fling. Away. Of what use was the thing? thing?

It has no value now, although It is a matchless thing, I know.

Atta Boy.

Arthur Miller is knock-kneed. But I would hate to knock him; For just because he is knock-kneed, There is no need to knock him.

A Christmas Prayer.

God grant no little child may go
With hungry heart or empty hand—
Give this thy world one radiant day
To understand, to understand,
Give us the fitting word to say,
The spendthrift smile, the brave career;
Disclose our hearts and give us now
The courage of our tenderness!
Lord, we are old with toil and tears,
Our souls are veiled with various art,
Yet still the little children keep
Thine ancient simplicity of heart—
And they alone of all thy breath
May bind the burning angel's eyes
And, striking laughter from the sword,
Retrace the years to paradise.
They are so brave with love and dreams,
So eager eyed and, ah, so dear!
I think we must return them now
The faith they bore across the year.
I think that we must give them now
The spendthrift smile, the kindly word,
That earth may keep its ancient hope
And we thy full commandments,
Lord.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Nov. 1, 1918.

Dear Mamma:
Suppose by this time you have received my post card saying that I was here at Aix-les-Bains on leave. I didn't know that I was going until a half hour before time to start but I made it all right. Had quite a long ride in the trucks to a large town where we were each paid $25 of the pay due us, given a whole new outfit of clothes and a hot bath. Gee, but that sure did make me feel like a new man. It was the first bath in six weeks and I haven't had any cooties now for 5 days. Cooties don't bite me like they do some people but the feel of them moving around is uncomfortable. They hold athletic meets and conventions at times and they sure are active. I pick them off every day but there are always a few somewhere. Thank goodness I haven't lice like some have. Well, I'm clean now for at least ten days, so I should worry. There are three of us in the hotel room and I have an army cot with fine mattress, sheets and blankets to myself. Have a fireplace, two full length mirrors, hot and cold water right in the room and large closet. We eat in a large dining room, French style, one dish at a time, and Uncle Sammie pays the bills. The hotels in this town are all larger than the Nachusa House and made of stone or marble. You see, in peace times this is one of the four famous baths in the world. Rich people and royalty have used the same room I'm in but I'm an American soldier, so am just as good as they are. There are two hot springs just above the hotel, one alum, and the other sulphur. The Romans started the baths here about 200 B. C., but now there is a building about 300 by 150 feet and 3 or 4 stories tall. Two swimming pools, one free to American soldiers and hundreds of baths, tub and showers. I went up into the mountains, about 200 feet in the hill tops. The water cut the caves out of limestone rock (it is about 110 degrees hot). My hotel is called Astoria of Arc Romain. The Arc Romain comes from a large Roman arch erected by the Romans to the family of Campanus about 200 B. C. About 75 yards west is the old Roman temple to Diana, camouflaged by a modern roof and stone supports. There is a stone coffin here dug up when they excavated for the hotel, also lots of old Roman coins, tools, etc., and some art work. The Casino used to be the second largest gambling place in the world, but now the Y. M. C. A. has the property leased and they sure are doing some good work for the boys on leave. They have at least 30 American men and women besides French helpers and conduct trips to Mt. Revard, Houtecombe Abbey, and other points of interest, organize ball games, tennis and athletics, have a lunch counter, large reading and writing room, pool and billiards, large theater, about twice the size of the old Dixon opera house, 5-reel moving picture shows, run a miniature postoffice, and act as big brothers and sisters to all the boys. In the theater they have regular professional vaudeville show, full orchestra and all. Show lasts about two hours and is free. They run a canteen, where they sell chocolate bars, cigarettes, tobacco, shaving supplies, etc., at cost. Tobacco costs about one-third what it costs, retail, in the States. At the lunch counter you get a cup of coffee or chocolate for 5 cents, bread butter and jam, 4 and 5c a slice, cookies 20c a pk. and the two shifts of four girls at the counter, cashier and I don't know how many in the kitchen are working at top speed all the time. They have all kinds of magazines and papers in the reading room, free paper and envelopes in writing room, and there are always a couple hundred fellows writing. If people could see the pleasure the boys get of these things they never would begrudge any amount of money given to it. The only place a person needs money is for boat and carfare on the trips, for canteen and lunch counter, souvenirs, etc. A man could have a fine time and never spend a cent.

From Mt. Revard we can see Mt. Blanc, the highest peak in Europe, and it is in Switzerland, the New-Foundland pass, where the monks keep the dogs that rescue travelers lost, and some of the most beautiful scenery you could hope to see. Believe me, it surely is a treat to me because since I've been over here in France this is the first time I've been in a country that wasn't desolated to a greater or lesser extent by the work of the Huns, and the first time I've had a chance to stop in a town of any size at all. I can wear my first service stripe now, a gold "V" on the left lower coat sleeve, donating six months in the A. E. F. I wonder if I'll be wearing more than two when I come home. Things look good and the boys are determined to finish the job right, so here's hoping it won't be many months before we can come back. Believe me, the American boys are the stuff and all our allies are handing them credit. This old war sure has brought the allied nations in a much closer and better understanding than they enjoyed before and it will last.

Love to all the folks,
HERBERT.

His Last Request

By JULIA GRAY

EVEN the little old basement dining room had put on quite a festive appearance Christmas morning. It was rather cold, and the furnace was in its usual state of coy reserve, but Farley had stuck holly and evergreen around the oil paintings of garlanded fish and "Highland Cattle," and each table had a brave sprig of mistletoe tied with crimson and green ribbon laid beside each plate. That was Beth's special offering.

As each member of the household came in the greetings were hearty and quite satisfactory, even to Beth. She had not thought the experiment would bring out even that much fellowship and good will from the silent, self-absorbed crowd at Mrs. Forbes'.

She put the prettiest bunch of all and a card of Christmas cheer beside Mr. Benchley's plate. Poor, grouchy old Scotchman, nobody ever had a good word for him. In all the months that she had been an inmate of the Forbes domicile she couldn't remember that anyone had ever given him even a pleasant greeting. He came downstairs to breakfast late and always grumbling, grumbled at his food, which Carrie, the colored maid, slid across the table at him, grumbled at the furnace and weather and the mailman, at the boarders and Mrs. Forbes and life in general.

But Beth liked him best of all. That morning she had found outside her door a box of fresh violets and a book she had been wishing for inscribed from her sincere friend, Alan Farley. It was the book more than the inscription that showed the thoughts of the giver, for it was named "The Well Beloved." As Beth glanced through it she had smiled, remembering a verse that Alan liked to repeat from Mrs. Browning:

What shall I give to my beloved?
A little faith all undisproved.
That was what he gave to her, only not in small measure, in full rich measure, all his heart's faith and love, asking her to believe in him and be patient for his success. And she could not tell him that she didn't give a rap for his success; that she would rather a hundred times over have been married to him, even if she had kept on with her own work, and they had been running mates together. So between them was the promise of marriage and to the boarding house at large he was "there sincere friend."

"The old man's sick in bed," said Carrie briskly, as she swept the crumbs from Beth's place. "He ain't coming down. He's groaning fearful."

"Oh, dear," Beth pushed back her chair, but Farley was before her. She found him bending over the old man, tending him like an experienced nurse.

"It's only an attack of acute indigestion," he told her. "He'll be all right. I'm a good doctor." He smiled down at her, and Mr. Benchley groaned and turned over to see who had come in. "May I wish you Merry Christmas, Mr. Benchley?" Beth asked. "I'm so sorry you don't feel well."

"Don't feel well! Losh, mon, hear the lass talk. Get more hot water. 'Twas on't a bit of a wee fuddle I had the night, but it left me dowershie. Fruit cake and wine after ten o'clock wi' bring any mon down on his back. Do they miss me down below?"

He was grave of face, but there was a twinkle in his eye. Alan raised him up and placed a couple of pillows behind him for support.

"Now, you're gay enough, sir," he said.

Benchley looked from one face to the other, one on each side of his bed, and his eyes glowed from under their thatch of heavy gray brows.

"You'll be married the day," he answered slowly. "I once loved a lass to my sorrow, Alan. She was to wait for me, and I purr fool, worked my life out for her, and she married a long-legged loon in the next town. I'm telling you noo, they will na wait too long. The sex is changeable. I've set my heart on seeing you married before I get another turn for the worst."

"Came Downstairs to Breakfast Late and Always Grumbling."

"Oh, Mr. Benchley, you're all right," began Beth, hastily, but he put his hand up warningly.

"Don't shock me or alarm me, and don't be arguing wi' me, neither, for my heart's no too strong at that. I've talked this out wi' Alan before you come at all, an' he's beginning to see licht a'ready. I've been watching both of you this long while, and I'm sick o' the lallagging and waiting. You can go quietly over the river to Jersey and be married right away, and I'll pay the bill. Get ready, lass."

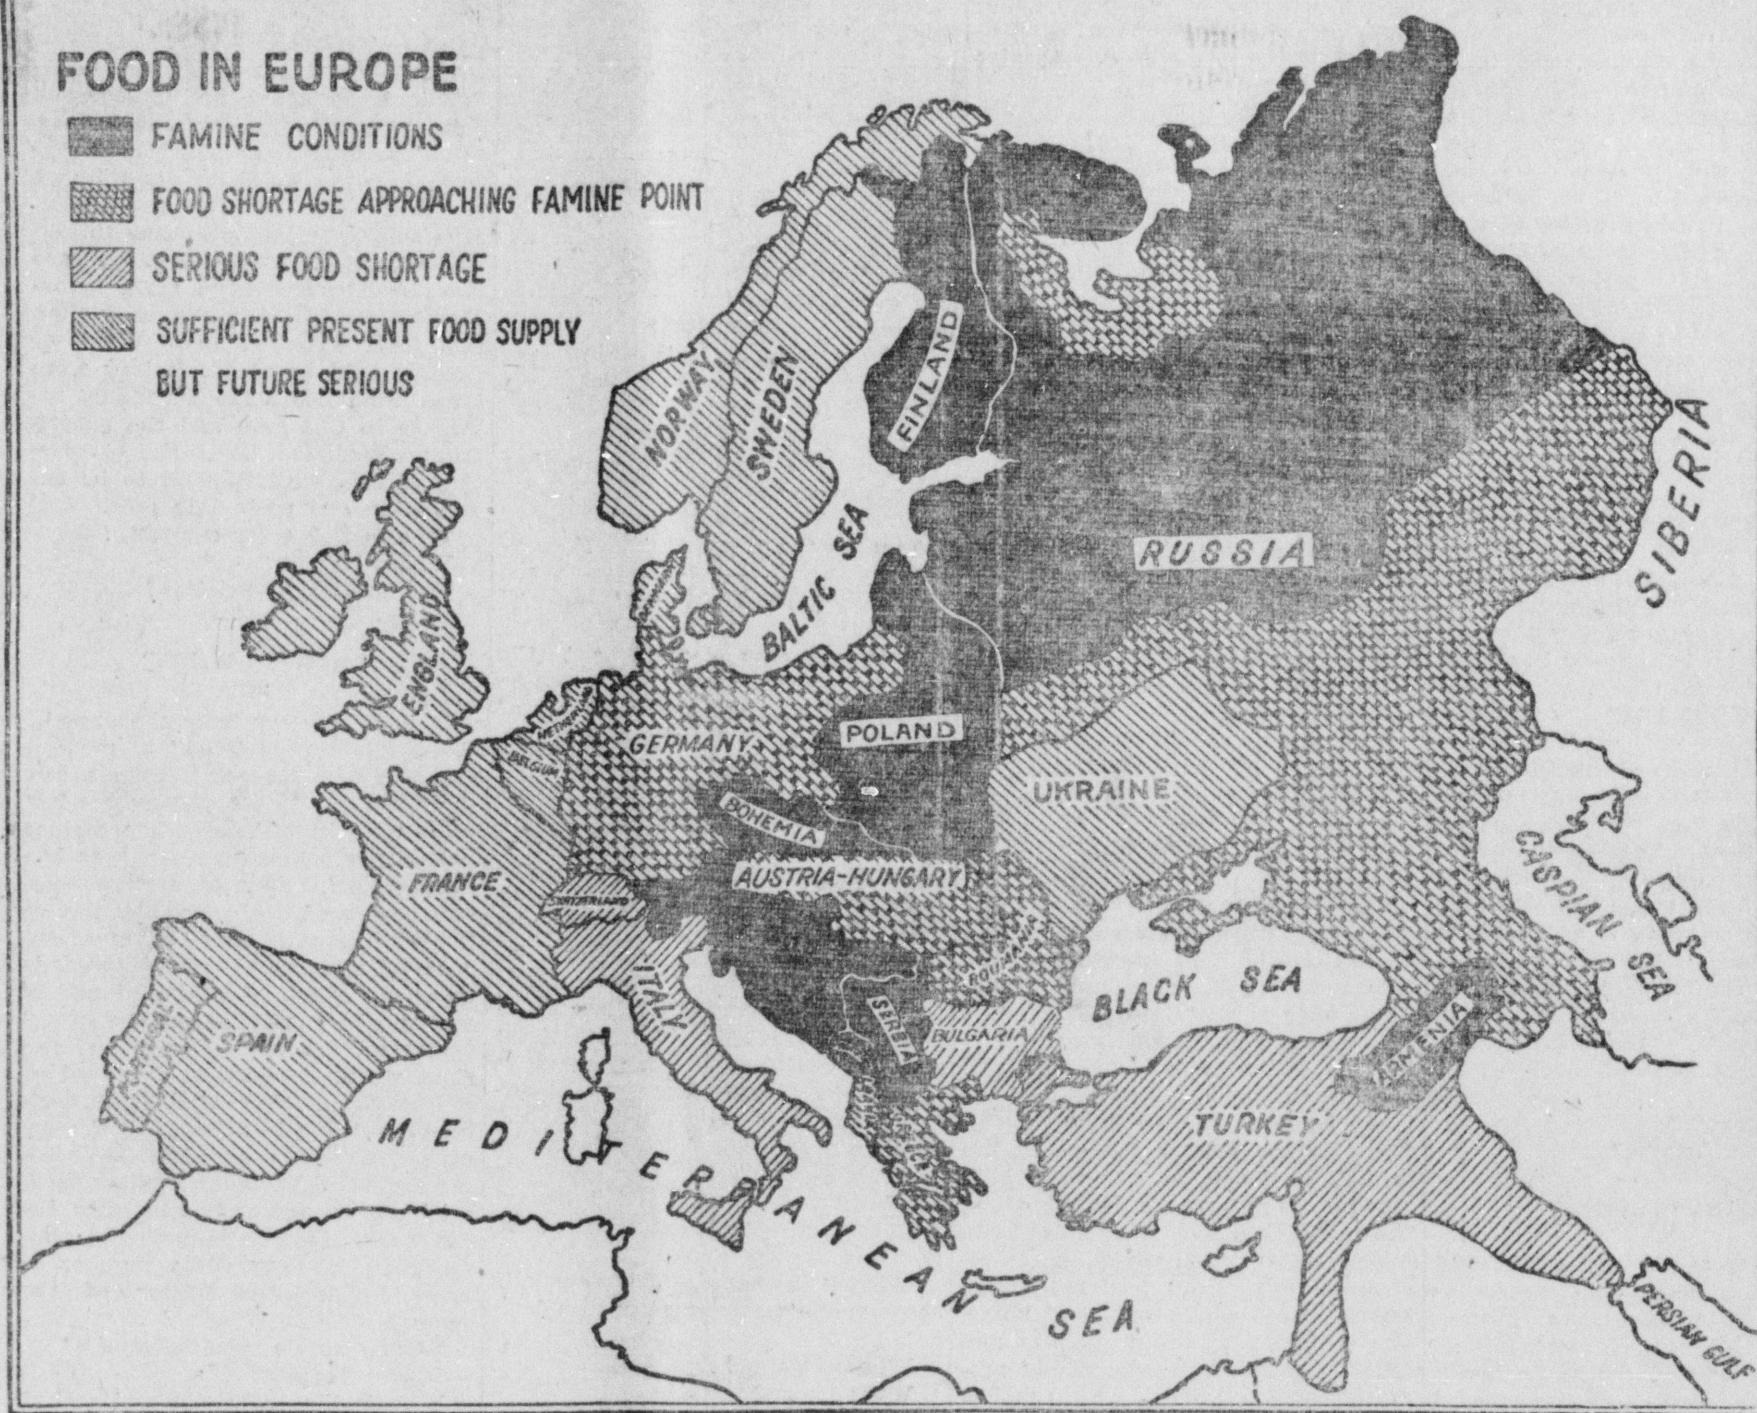

Alan's eyes begged her to be yielding, but it was the old set face lying back on the pillows that moved her to act as he wished, and she slipped up to her own room without a word to any one.

When they came back it was the dinner hour, two o'clock on holidays, and as they came down stairs together Beth heard a voice in the dining room, a resounding, hearty, strong voice, Mr. Benchley speaking.

"I had to use subterfuge wi' them," he was saying. "They're both obstinate, but so am I, and I've married

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

To Mrs. G. E. Rynearson:
Nov. 14, 1918.

Dear Mother and All:
It don't seem possible, folks, that it is all over. Oh, but I am just happy to think of all this bloodshed being at an end.

I suppose you have been looking for a letter from me for the past few weeks and had already started to imagine all sorts of things. Well, the fact of the matter is I have been in the hospital and am writing this from the hospital. I was quite sick for a while but am much better now and expect to be discharged from here the first of next week. I was taken real sick while in the lines and I was taken from there to a field hospital and from there the first night was sent to an evacuation hospital. They kept me there one night and the next morning at 5:30 a. m. they loaded me on a hospital train. I was a mighty sick man on this train and was on it for 18 hours. When it finally came to a standstill and they unloaded me I was in Paris. I am now in a hospital about eight miles out of Paris, so was right near the city when peace was declared. I could hear the guns and bells ringing out here where I am. I expect to get a few days in Paris before I get back to my company. Will let you know what I see there. Will close for this time.

With love to all. From your loving son,

GLENN E. RYNEARSON.

Mrs. C. D. Anderson is spending a few days with relatives and friends in Chicago.

James C. Jocelyn, of Milwaukee, Wis., formerly of Dixon, has been very ill with the influenza.

Christmas Morning

Good gracious! Look what Santa brought! A stocking full of joy, And a Teddy Bear that couldn't get in. All for a good little boy.

SISTER DIED.

Fireman John Keyser of Spruce street, was called to Lincoln, Neb., Sunday by the death of his sister, Mrs. E. N. Durns.

Acid-Stomach Makes Bad Blood, Headaches and Nervousness

Many times you have seen an awfully bad, oozy looking face that makes you think—"It's blood poison." You are wrong, for about nine times out of ten it is caused by an acid-stomach, which interferes with the natural digestion of the food in the entire digestive tract. Of course, this makes the blood impure and it always shows up in the face, with a red nose and pimply, blotchy, muddy, bad looking complexion. Get rid of the excess acid, keep your blood pure, and see how quickly the face will show it with good looks.

Remember, too, that when you eat—no matter how good the food, if the digester is faulty, you cannot escape the penalty in the loss of power, mental and physical. All this is the result of super-acidity, as the doctors call it. Then again if you eat more food than the body requires, it is converted into gas by fermentation, or what is called sour stomach. This shows that even good food, taken in excess, can at once become a poison and a hindrance to good health.

Excess acid also causes irritation in the stomach, intestines and the nerve fibres, which, by the million, run from the stomach and the intestines all over the body and directly to the brain. This is frequently the cause of those awful headaches that so many people are afflicted with. In time it will develop into hyper-chloridia; it is the prime cause of sleeplessness, then nervous indigestion, melancholia, and frequently, insanity.

Nervousness is caused by sour stomach, because this acid fermentation causes decomposition, makes carbon dioxide and other toxics, which, taken into the blood, irritate the nerves and affect the entire nervous system. In this manner it creates nervousness and you often hear people say, "I am so nervous that I just think I will fly to pieces," and little do they attribute the cause to an acid condition of the stomach.

A new method of removing this excess acid has been found. Read what a learned Michigan physician writes of his success with it. "I have had such wonderful success with a new method called EATONIC that I want everyone to know how quickly it will neutralize the acidity and the stomach will soon be sweet and normal again, and the sick man will be happy once more."

This truly wonderful modern remedy, EATONIC, literally wipes out the excess acid. It does the work easily, speedily and thoroughly. It makes the stomach pure, sweet, cool and comfortable. It helps you get full strength out of every mouthful of food you eat; and unless you DO get full strength from your food you cannot enjoy robust, vigorous health.

Try EATONIC and see how quickly it banishes the immediate effects of sour, acid-stomach—bloat, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, indigestion, etc.—how quickly your general health improves—how much more you relish your food—how easily your food is digested—how much better you look—how soundly you sleep—how nervousness and irritability disappear.

It is so easy to get this help—and it costs so little. So why suffer another hour when sure, quick relief is at hand? Everywhere people who have used EATONIC testify to its power to bring quick relief. The testimonials of some of these people are so enthusiastic and tell of such remarkable relief as to be almost unbelievable.

If you are one of those who have "tried everything," but in spite of it are still lacking in physical strength and vigor, begin at once to take EATONIC. Don't put it off. Get back your physical and mental punch. Have the power and energy to work with vim. Enjoy the good things of life. Learn what it means to fairly bubble over with health. Like thousands of others, you will say that you never dreamed it possible that such a wonderful change for the better could be brought about so quickly.

So get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. Our guarantee that EATONIC will please you is the best proof that it will and you can trust your druggist to make this guarantee good. If it fails in any way, take it back—he will refund your money. We don't want a penny unless EATONIC helps you. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC write to us and we will send you a big 50c box. You can send us the 50c after you receive it. Address H. L. Kramer, President, Eatonie Remedy Company, Cor. Wabash Ave. and 11th St., Chicago, Ill.
